Service to the Almighty Through Research: The Higher Purpose

In the pursuit of knowledge, research stands as a beacon that guides us toward understanding, innovation, and progress. Yet, beyond the empirical data and theoretical frameworks lies a deeper, more profound purpose. For many, the act of research is not merely an academic exercise but a form of devotion, a way to serve the Almighty by contributing to the betterment of humanity. This issue of our journal is dedicated to exploring this higher purpose, demonstrating how research, when conducted with integrity and excellence, serves both our faith and society.

The principle of service to the Almighty through research is exemplified in the stories of researchers whose work has made a significant impact on their communities. Consider groundbreaking research on sustainable agriculture that has not only improved crop yields but also lifted entire farming communities out of poverty. This dedication goes beyond scientific inquiry; it is a manifestation of the commitment to serve others as an act of faith. Similarly, innovative healthcare solutions have brought affordable medical care to underserved populations, embodying the principle of serving the Almighty through service to others.

The current list of publications in this issue further underscores this principle. Each article reflects a commitment to addressing real-world problems with the rigor and dedication that befit a higher calling. The works presented here are not just academic contributions; they are acts of devotion that resonate with our collective responsibility to serve humanity.

Producing and publishing research is a testament to one's faith and commitment to the betterment of the profession and humanity. It is an acknowledgment that the knowledge we generate and share has the power to transform lives, shape policies, and inspire future generations. By upholding the highest standards of integrity and excellence in our research endeavors, we honor the divine purpose that guides our work.

In this context, research becomes more than an activity or a scholarly pursuit; it is a sacred duty. It is about striving for excellence not for personal glory, but to make a meaningful difference in the world. It is about maintaining integrity, recognizing that our work must be honest and transparent to truly serve its purpose. And it is about a relentless commitment to service, understanding that our ultimate goal is to contribute to the greater good.

As we reflect on the role of research in our lives, let us remember that each study, each discovery, and each publication is an opportunity to serve a higher purpose. Let us be inspired by those who have come before us, and let us strive to ensure that our work continues to reflect the values of faith, integrity, and excellence.

In conclusion, the pursuit of knowledge through research is a profound act of service to the Almighty. By producing and publishing research with a commitment to these principles, we not only

Aims and Scope

The International Journal of Open-access, Interdisciplinary and New Educational Discoveries of ETCOR Educational Research Center (iJOINED ETCOR) is a scholarly, open-access, international, quarterly, peer-reviewed journal that publishes research articles that contribute to human and societal development through excellent academic and scientific findings. iJOINED ETCOR's interdisciplinary nature adheres to the global challenge for all educators and industry practitioners to value the integration of various disciplines in their studies in order to arrive at a holistic understanding of a phenomenon or an inquiry. Thus, while the journal accepts articles on knowledge from different disciplines (multidisciplinary), it gives high regard to studies that deal with knowledge within and across disciplines.

iJOINED ETCOR aims to serve as an instrument and an avenue for all educators and industry practitioners to disseminate the findings of their studies and be part of the global challenge for everyone to embrace the culture of research.
